THE PROGRAM WITH IRENE RODERICK

Nancy Foote introduced Irene. Irene trained as a painter, is based in Austin TX and is a sought-after teacher.

Irene shared many photos and spoke about how she got started quilting after painting for years. She shared some of her influences and how she produces her improvisational quilts. When she sees something that sparks her imagination she thinks, “I want to do that” and she goes from there. She works intuitively and is always moving as she creates, calling her process “Dancing with the Wall.” She continues to take classes from others and always comes away having learned something that contributes to her process.

Thank you, Irene Roderick, for a wonderful presentation!

After the presentation we had time to share some of the quilts we have been working on and a few more announcements were made:

- We have 16 quilt entries from NMQG for the Hands Across the Valley Show April 22-23
- There is still time to turn in raffle baskets for the show. These need to be turned in by the March 5th NMQG meeting. Give these to Debbie Lovejoy delovleo@gmail.com and include a list of what is in the basket.
- The Maine Quilt Show in Augusta, ME is July 27-29. People can sign up for classes in March.
- There is a new store for recycled fabrics: Paper City Fabrics in Holyoke.
- A couple people suggested that guild members check out Gotham Quilts in NY. They offer several online quilt classes.
- It has been difficult for some members to find fabric for the anniversary quilt challenge, Valley Fabrics is trying to get them in. It was suggested people try the Textile company in Greenfield. Suggested online fabric retailers were: Fabric.com and Pure Solids by Art Gallery Fabrics.

The meeting was adjourned at 1:57 pm

Respectfully submitted, Caroline White, NMQG Secretary
